Excerpt: . . . HIS LAST POEM. 305 HIS LAST POEM. LEFT UNFINISHED. I. This Rhyme I build on what my old friend Will As having happd himself, once told to me. Of most grave countenance, yet of most keen skill To set a truth within a jest was he. Of a fine wisdom he had store, but still So held in poise of whimsicality, Few deemed him wise but me; it was his nature Rather to stoop than overstretch his stature. II. Nor did he hate the Devil with all his heart, But found some little wrinkles in his horn So comic-taking that he could not part From some small kindness to that king forlorn. I will not name them, we have such an art Of branding little flaws with blame and scorn Beyond proportion; only, like his fellows, This friend of mine had, too, his peccadilloes....
