I m glad I do speak English. I had to learn it because I am a gentleman; and all gentlemen study things and go into the army and go to court. I don t see why. If I were grown up, I should go back to San Donato. When I am a man, I shall live in the country, he added, lowering his voice, and with a hesitating look at the priest, who had seated himself at some little distance from them, and was apparently absorbed in a book taking no heed of their conversation. I should like to live by the sea, you know, and have Father Faber to play to me on his violin. H--m, said Nevil. Look here. My father doesn t go to court. And he isn t in the army either....
