Excerpt: . - - W to your way, continually, you will inevitably soon become the prey of the destroyer. If, on the other hand, you are preserved from the temptations to which such a condition exposes, and have your lot cast chiefly among the good and virtuous, be thankful to that Providence which thus highly favours you, and make good use of the advantages which it offers for becoming fitted for any station which you may hereafter be called to occupy. LETTER V. DANGER FROM BEING SUDDENLY CAST INTO ADVERSITY. It does not appear that Joseph, previous to the sad visit that he made to his brethren at Dothan, had had any remarkable experience of the vicissitudes of human life. He had indeed lost an excellent mother -- and that is always a severe affliction; but he was too young at the time to form any adequate conception of the loss; and no doubt his wants had all been promptly met by the ever vigilant care and affection of his father. But, from the hour that he parted with his father, or rather from the hour that he met his brethren, his condition underwent a strange and sad reverse; misfortune followed in the track of misfortune, till it seemed as if malignity and cruelty had exhausted themselves in the effort to render him unhappy. How different was the meeting which he had with his brethren from that which he had anticipated i Instead of being...
